Dear Hiring Manager,

I'm always hyped about putting skills I've learned into use my own way. Which is why I'm writing this to express my strong interest in your Co-op/Internship role. I'm a 4th-year Computer Science student eager to contribute to a driven and fun team environment and develop my skills even further.

Getting lost in the process of creating something with maximum attention to detail is a source of passion for me and this is the first step for me into making more of that happen. I have around 2 years of experience as a freelance UI/UX designer & developer, which is what got me into wanting to make more things that don't just look great but feel great and are useful too. Aside from that, my most recent work experience has been as a Sales Associate for a marketing and fundraising company, where I helped raise around 8,000$ worth of Monthly donations for multiple big charities in just over a year. With my technical skills as well as effective communication, I hope to have a positive impact on your growing team as I thrive in collaborative environments.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I look forward to hopefully being able to speak with you soon and discuss more, so that I'm better able to assess where my skills currently are and where they can be. Thanks again.

Sincerely,
Dewan Mohammad Tasinuzzaman
